Caliburn supports the health and well-being of civilian and military workforces, whenever, and wherever they are needed. With more than 45 years experience, we provide occupational health care management and behavioral health services, including mental health screening, non-medical counseling, and case management services.

For targeted advocacy, education, and assistance, our health care management and non-medical counseling services address the needs of children, adults, and families. To support and enhance work readiness, stability, and wellness for individual team members or groups, we provide counseling and consultation. We also provide education and training for the following:

- Conflict resolution
- Stress and anger management
- Leadership and communication skills
- Emotional intelligence

Managed by professional clinicians, our emergency and permanent shelter operations employ over 2,000 staff in six separate facilities. These teams provide onsite clinical care, life support, and non-medical counseling services. To augment our counseling services, we use technology to provide centralized case management remotely. This allows our licensed professional staff to perform the same quality counseling services as those provided onsite.
